

England Library 1st Annual Unusual Reading Spot Contest

The England Library is so excited to host our First Annual Unusual Reading Spot Contest! Students will enjoy having their picture taken while reading in an unusual place or pose and entering their picture in our school-wide contest. Students might be found reading in a refrigerator, near an important landmark, in a basketball hoop, or any place your imagination takes you. In the photos, students should be visibly reading a book (see examples below). The winners will have their photos enlarged to 12"x16" for display in our England Library.

Who : Any student attending England! (Only one entry per student.)

When : from NOW until Friday, January 18, 2013

How : Participating students must turn in a 4"x6" or 5"x7" photo print on photo paper of their contest entry. The entries will be voted on by a panel of judges and the winning images will then need to provide a digital version of their image (please take the photo in the highest resolution your camera will allow) so that we may enlarge it for display in the library. Please note that "camera-phone" photos will not be a high enough resolution to print in an enlarged size. Please pick up a participation form in the library or download one from the eFolder or Library Website to attach to your contest entry picture.

Is your family traveling somewhere special this Fall for Thanksgiving or Winter Break? Grab your digital camera and a book and think of a creative reading spot or pose to enter in our contest!

Happy Reading! -Mrs. Kupersztach
